THE STORY

REPLANTED picks up shortly after an incident involving a farmer on a small island village. The farmer, Richard, has murdered his wife, Martha. The specifics of the murder aren't shown, all that matters is what's next. It's up to you to fix this situation.

Richard is faced with several challenges and quests, friends may become suspicious, police may become involve, and religious mentors may encourage him to come clean. Your choices can effect your success and overall fate.

Hide or come clean? Run or destroy evidence? REPLANTED will give you the choices to control the narrative. What will you do? How will you die? Will you be caught, or successfully avoid punishment. All there is left to do is to play the game and find out...
