

MONJARMAGEDDON

Welcome to this chaotic world, where the working class uprising has happened and hell has broken loose all around the globe. Nun is a devout catholic christian and, as such, she has a very clear mission: to stop anything that goes against her creed. For this very same task, she has been given an incredible power that allows her to fight against armed communists and magic ancient djinns alike, all while withstanding the enemy fire. That's as long as she keeps consuming holy water, of course.

Game Basics

Nun's mission is to get through the six zones, each divided in two acts, and reach the Altar in the first act and defeat the boss in the second. To achieve this, Nun can collect holy waters and wafers to increase her defense, while having the power to shoot holy fire crusading crosses endlessly. Jumping over an enemy will also banish them to the seventh ring of hell. While the heavens have granted Nun the power of resurrection, it is a limited power and upon reaching zero lives she'll go to heaven to never return, thus reaching the Game Over screen.

Items

There are a few items you can collect throughout the world which will make your life easier.

Name	Icon	Description
Holy Water		Each holy water allows Nun to survive one extra hit.
Baby Trolley		Stealing babies for the rich catholics grants Nun an extra life.
Stimulants Table		Since the bible doesn't outright forbid this specific thing, it should be okay to use it to increase speed and jump force.
Holy Bible		Reading a bible passage is enough to distort space and time. Upon dying, Nun will come back to this checkpoint in the state she was when she read the passage.
Wafer		Collecting enough of these, body of Christ, will grant Nun an extra Holy Water.
Rosary		The power of the rosary will grant Nun invulnerability and extreme crusading powers for a limited amount of time.
